Travel to Khalsa College London

Walking and public transport map

Welcome to Khalsa College London's active travel map!

You can use these maps to help you walk, cycle or use public transport to get to college.

Are you in the zone?

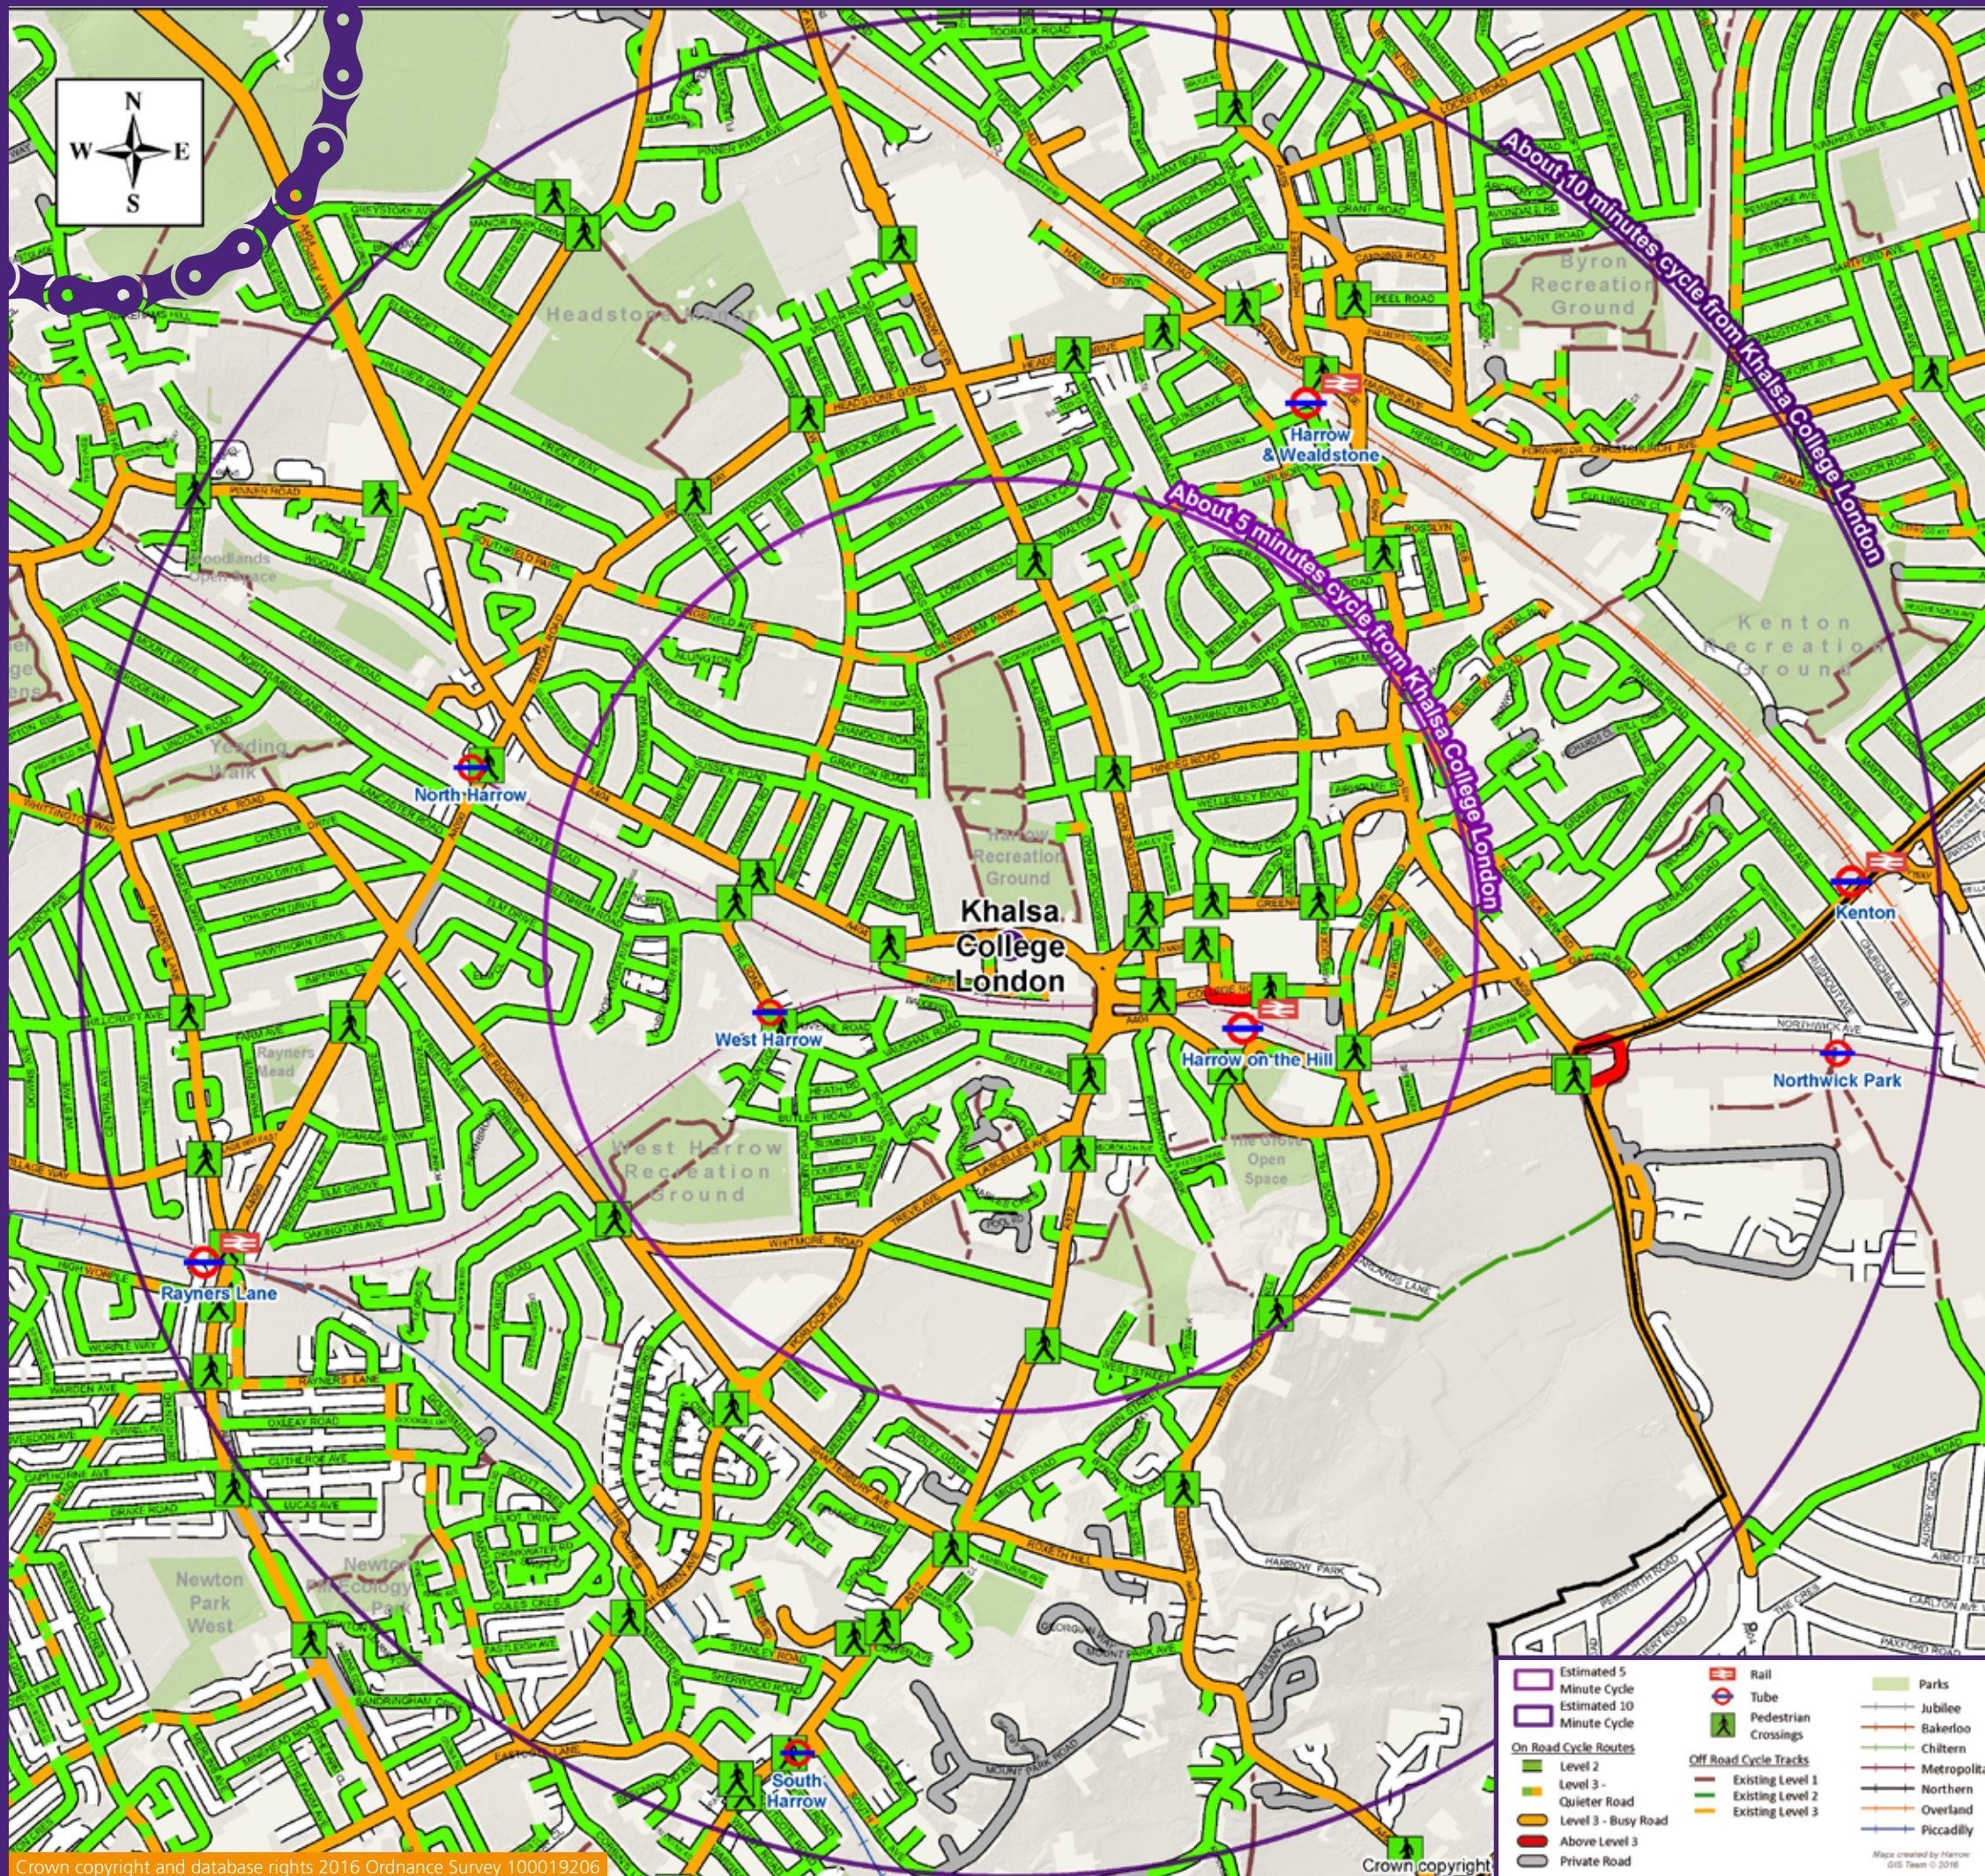

It takes less than 10 minutes to walk to college from locations inside the zones on the map. Give it a go!

Walking is a free and easy way to stay fit and healthy. It makes you feel great, and is also a chance to catch up with friends.

If you live further away, or have to come to college by car – stop outside the 5 or 10 minute zones and walk part of the way. This can save time and reduce congestion.

This map also shows which bus routes, trains or tubes can help you travel to college. To plan your journey and find out more about public transport in Harrow, visit the Transport for London website www.tfl.gov.uk

Cycling map - with Bikeability levels

This map can help you plan a cycling journey to college based on your cycling skills and confidence levels.

Bikeability

The roads on this map are colour coded to show how suitable they are for cyclists of different Bikeability levels. Green roads are quieter and amber roads are busier. For more information visit www.harrow.gov.uk/schooltravelmaps

Bikeability is a national cycle training programme with three levels designed to help with control, road safety, and planning and making independent journeys.

Choose cycling!

Cycling is a fast and free way to travel. You don't need to wait for a bus or a lift in the car, just get on your bike and go! It's fun and an easy way to keep fit.

Top tips for cycling to college

- 1 Plan your route – use quieter roads and cycle paths where possible, only use busier roads if you have been trained and are confident
- 2 Be safe – follow the rules of the road, give way, use signals, and be careful at junctions, roundabouts and near large vehicles
- 3 Be seen – ride where you can be seen, wear bright clothing if possible and use reflectors and lights.

Free cycle training is available in Harrow to help develop skills and confidence.
