The Harrow and Wealdstone Opportunity Area (OA) has experienced disproportionate growth, placing an undue burden on a relatively small area. Since its inception in 2013, the OA has already produced over 3,500 units, and its capacity has been repeatedly revised upwards, from an initial 2,900 to the current 9,352. This represents 58.3% of the borough's 16,040 housing target, despite the OA comprising only 1.3% of the borough's land.

The London Plan 2021 sets a capacity of 5,000 homes and 1,000 jobs for the OA, a target that will be reached by 2029. There is no justification for increasing the housing target beyond this point. The remaining sites should be developed into family housing that aligns with the area's character and preserves the low-rise nature of Station Road.

If the current trajectory continues, the OA will reach nearly 13,000 homes by the end of the plan period. This overdevelopment will negatively impact the quality of life for both existing and new residents. Past regeneration efforts have increased inequality, with those living near the OA experiencing the most significant decline in living standards due to strain on infrastructure.

The plan often references "design-led development," yet it's unclear if developers are adhering to specific design guidelines or templates. The current approach results in disparate and disconnected developments, disregarding the importance of a unified urban character. This neglects the Metroland identity and diminishes the overall quality of the built environment.

The council's conflation of social rent and 'affordable' rent housing masks the true extent of the affordable housing shortage. While the need for family-sized social rent homes remains unmet, the proposed development includes a significant number of flats, many of which may be considered 'luxury'. To gain public support, the council should focus on delivering genuinely affordable housing solutions that directly address the housing crisis.

Harrow's ambitious development plans are overshadowed by significant infrastructure challenges. Key concerns include:

Housing and Transport: The proposed development strategy prioritizes housing near transport hubs without sufficient local amenities. This approach neglects the needs of residents within Harrow itself.

Leisure Facilities: Essential facilities like Harrow Leisure Centre and Hatch End swimming pool are nearing the end of their lifespan, yet there's no concrete plan for their replacement.

Healthcare Crisis: The borough faces a severe GP shortage, exacerbated by an aging population and rapid growth. The Primary Care Strategy and the Health and Wellbeing Strategy highlight significant health inequalities and the need for urgent investment in primary and secondary care.

Water and Energy Shortages: The Local Economic Needs Assessment warns of potential water scarcity and electricity grid strain due to increased demand from new developments.

Population Imbalance: The New Harrow Local Plan identifies a significant population increase in the already densely populated Opportunity Area, raising concerns about the capacity of existing infrastructure to cope.

Funding Uncertainty: The Infrastructure Delivery Plan reveals a lack of secured funding for many critical projects, leaving the future of Harrow's infrastructure uncertain.

Residents demand a comprehensive plan to address these pressing issues and ensure that future development is sustainable and beneficial to the community.
